

Do you have a storytelling vision you would like to develop?

SBW creative lab is a residency program that offers storytellers and activists an ideal environment, nourishment and encouragement to work on developing their creative projects. Open by application to storytellers who are working on a specific performance or storytelling related project.

We will be offering creative input, mentoring, and coaching as well as guidance in developing strategy for publicity and promotion of the work.

With Roi, Karmit and guest teachers.
